

Pegasus

The Crew

Skipper: Diggory Rose

A Yachtmaster Instructor with 8 years full time skippering behind him, Diggory has made a speciality of being in and around large, traditionally rigged vessels. He has skippered both sail training and charter vessels including the 1912 yawl Duet and our old friend Provident as well as many others.

A strong believer in the benefits of these kind of boats for motivating and challenging young people, Diggory has already worked skippering Island Trust Funded groups whilst working for Trinity Sailing.

Originally a shipwright, he has been able to lend a hand in the construction of the boat and now knows her inside out.

Mate: Liz Key

Liz has a background in youth work and has been involved with sail training for several years, including four seasons as a cook with Trinity Sailing's Leader and Provident. She went on to develop watch leading skills, gaining experience in different vessels, and passed her third mate's assessment with OYT South, before being appointed as new Staff Bosun in December 2007, and completing a second mate's assessment in summer 2008.

Liz joins us as regular mate on Pegasus for 2010 bringing her wealth of experience and good nature to the team and bringing back a dynamic pairing with Diggs who she used to work with onboard Provident

Operations Manager/Relief Mate: Amy Ferguson

Amy came to sailing through working with the Jubilee Sailing Trust and as Mate aboard the Hartlepool Renaissance with the Cirdan Trust. Amy spent three years with Integer Training as mate aboard their ketch and during that time secured Island Trust funding to take disadvantaged young people on the Tall Ships Race.

More recently she has been working for a charter agency where her skills in marketing and management have been honed. She is a Yachtmaster with Cruising instructor endorsements.

Our crew is an experienced and seasoned team bringing enthusiasm, dedication, compassion and understanding to the boat as well as practical abilities in seamanship and maintenance terms as well as providing a strong administrative back up for operations. Friendly, cheerful and happy, they look forward to welcoming you onboard.
